BABY HOROSCOPES
BABY HOROSCOPES

We here at Huggies have put together a quick guide of baby horoscopes to show you a little bit about the different star signs and how they might have an influence on your baby.

Whether you believe passionately in astrology and the way constellations of stars are said to shape us and affect our lives or you just think it’s interesting, the connections between the signs of the zodiac and the way people behave can be uncanny and intriguing.

So, get ready to learn a little about your baby, based on their birthday – or their due date, parents to be!

ZODIAC SIGNS

ARIES 21 MARCH - 19 APRIL
Aries babies are fearless and energetic. They learn quickly and as children need only the smallest amount of information about something before taking action. These qualities often see them thriving in competitive situations and being able to take the lead amongst a group of friends.

TAURUS 20 APRIL - 20 MAY
A Taurus baby can seem very self-sufficient and laid back. They aren’t very needy but they do appreciate your attention and will respond to touch, taste and smell very strongly. Taurus babies are very aware of their surroundings and generally grow into very expressive, empathetic, and considerate children.
Gemini babies are social and adventurous. Starting from a very early age, they are keen to know everything they can about everything and everyone and will gravitate towards people who interest them. By the time they are talking, they are attempting conversations not only with their peers but also with adults.

Cancer babies are sensitive little souls. You may find that they cry a lot. This can be because they crave affection but it is more often because they are very aware of the atmosphere in their surroundings. Your Cancer baby can pick up on tension so they will respond very well to calm and soothing voices and lots of physical contact.

Little Leos love to be the centre of attention. Bubbly and happy little babies, Leo bubs have enough energy for smiling and playing almost all of the time they are awake. The rest of the time they may seem a bit ill-tempered which can either be because they are over-tired or under-stimulated. A cuddle usually perks them right up.

Virgo babies are incredibly receptive to emotion and information. Reading and speaking to your Virgo baby will make them very happy. Because they are so emotionally responsive, a Virgo baby can become overly cautious as they develop but with your encouragement and support, they will grow into an extremely caring child.
Libra babies win hearts. They have sweet and generous nature but, being very sensitive, their mood can drop in a heartbeat if they pick up on negative or stressful vibes. Many Libra babies develop artistic or musical gifts, as they have an appreciation of creativity and are incredibly dexterous.

Gain the love and trust of a Scorpio baby and you have a true friend for life. Scorpio babies both think and feel things very deeply. Quick to spot a phony, Scorpio children instinctively value honesty and commitment. They grow into independent and dependable people who have a great deal of self-respect.

Sagittarius babies are interested in everything. It may start with studying your facial expressions, and will more than likely lead to exploring absolutely everything, both physically and intellectually. Get ready to hear the word “Why?” a fair bit from your Sagittarius once they can speak.

Capricorn babies are delicate little people. They thrive on routine and affection, so try not to be late with a feeding and never miss an opportunity for a cuddle. There may be tantrums but the highs will be equally rewarding. Capricorn babies are destined to be creative in whatever they pursue.
Aquarius babies are capable of changing the world. They are unpredictable and energetic. This may seem exhausting, but you are bringing up an adaptable, intelligent baby who will probably be a leader in many of the things they try – and they will try a lot of things.

Pisces babies are dreamers. Quiet and gentle in nature, the Piscean baby is content to stare into space for what might seem like hours. They will readily absorb any new information or stimulation they encounter, and will then consider it at great length before moving on to the next experience.
